• Data Note: Depths & contours inferred from satellite shoreline topography & DEM models. Verify bank footing on arrival.

TOP RECOMMENDED SPOTS (#1 - #3)

Primary ambush bottlenecks, breaklines & productive structures

#1. North Constriction Neck [Grid D2] | Rating: 3.9/10 | Target: Brown Trout, Iberian Barbel

Why this spot: The lake narrows here into a natural pinch-point between northern arm and main basin. Cruising trout and barbel funnel through this bottleneck as forage moves between basins, creating the highest-percentage ambush corridor.

Tactics & Cast: Fan-cast single-hook inline spinner, drift a light float rig, or slow-roll small soft plastic ~10m out across the narrowest channel cut.

Shore Access: Gentle bank (~2m slope) reachable via clear shoreline walking paths off the north perimeter.

#2. West Peninsula Point [Grid C5] | Rating: 3.9/10 | Target: Black Bass, Brown Trout

Why this spot: Prominent point jutting out into open water breaks the lake's contour line. Predatory bass and trout use this structure to corral passing schools of baitfish against shore, providing a 180 deg casting arc into multiple depth zones.

Tactics & Cast: Stand on the point and cast suspending jerkbaits or lightly jigged soft plastics ~14m past tip, working lures back down slope.

Shore Access: Flat, accessible bank (~2m slope) with easy trail access from Camino a La Barosa.

#3. East Sheltered Cove [Grid F4] | Rating: 3.5/10 | Target: Black Bass, Iberian Chub

Why this spot: Tucked into the eastern shoreline, completely shielded from main-lake chop and wind. Warmer, calm water provides safe haven for fry and insects, drawing active bass and chub into shallows during midday windows.

Tactics & Cast: Quietly pitch weightless soft plastic worms or float-fish corn and worms ~10m into calm pockets with minimal surface splash.

Shore Access: Easy, flat grassy approach (~2m slope) with open casting room.

SECONDARY & SHORELINE SPOTS (#4 - #6)

Exploratory roaming margins, silt bays & quick access entries

#4. North Shore Margin [Grid A8] | Rating: 2.1/10 | Target: Iberian Chub, Black Bass

Why this spot: Open gradual shoreline flat. Roaming chub and cruising bass cruise parallel to the bank during dawn and dusk low-light hours.

Tactics & Cast: Walk the bank and slow-roll a light inline spinner or weedless paddle-tail ~14m out, retrieving parallel to shore.

Shore Access: Gentle bank (~5m slope) with an unobstructed shoreline trail.

#5. Southeast Silt Bay [Grid E7] | Rating: 2.1/10 | Target: Common Carp, Iberian Chub

Why this spot: Quiet, silt-bottom shoreline pocket along southeastern bend. Ideal territory for bottom-feeding carp rooting in silt and chub along margins.

Tactics & Cast: Cast a light feeder or ledger rig with corn or boilies ~10m off bank; keep bank footsteps and noise to a minimum.

Shore Access: Low, level bank (~2m slope) with clear space for bank sticks or a seat box.

#6. Southwest Entry Bank [Grid A4] | Rating: 2.1/10 | Target: Iberian Chub, Black Bass

Why this spot: Expansive shallow bank with gentlest slope and fastest access from the road. Perfect for warm-up prospecting casts upon arrival.

Tactics & Cast: Fan-cast small shallow crankbaits or spinners across open shallows (~28m out) to prospect for active cruisers.

Shore Access: Easiest entry on the lake (~1m slope); immediate access from the roadside verge.

SUGGESTED GAME PLAN FOR LAGO DE CARUCEDO

1. Arrival & Quick Prospecting: Step onto the bank at Spot 6 (Grid A4) for quick warm-up casts to check water clarity and surface activity.

2. Prime Morning Feeding Window: Walk north path to Spot 1 (North Constriction Neck, Grid D2) for transitioning trout/barbel, then work to West Peninsula Point (Spot 2, Grid C5).

3. Midday / Rising Wind: If afternoon wind creates chop on main lake, head to East Sheltered Cove (Spot 3, Grid F4) for calm, warm pockets.
